

APPLICATION REQUIREMENTS

Applicants to the Emerging Leaders program must complete the following:

- A range of short essay questions related to your experience and interest in the program
- Written letter of confirmation and support from the Executive Director or other senior manager of your organization of your participation in the program
- One letter of recommendation from the applicant's professional life submitted via email to Raeshawn Crosson. Applicants may submit a second recommendation letter; however, only one is required.
- An agreement to honor the time commitment, attendance expectations, and other program participation requirements (agreement is contained within the application form). Your application will be read by IEC National staff, National Emerging Leader Committee, and the Emerging Leaders program facilitators. The most qualified candidates will be invited for a phone interview prior to final selection in February 2023. The program begins in April. In the interest of developing a diverse cohort, we will accept only one applicant from an organization into the program and never accept more than two applicants per organization into the program; we seek to manage expectations accordingly.
