INDEPENDENT ELECTRICAL CONTRACTORS IEC Central OH

April 24, 2018

Good Morning, LaNa and Tom and members of the IEC Foundation,

Just a quick note to thank the Home Depot and the IEC Foundation for the generous donations to the improvement of the IEC Central OH Training Center and other IEC training centers throughout this country.

Without the generous donations of Home Depot ProXtra through the IECF, Central OH IEC may not yet be in the position to provide the ever-improving top of the line hands on training and education that is being provided to IEC members and their employees today. Certainly, without the assistance of the Home Depot ProXtra Program, this ongoing progress may have been slowed.

Every year we strive to improve training for IEC members and their employees. With upwards of 300 apprentices moving to their next level in just a few weeks; 45 moving to journeyman status; we find ourselves continuing to recruit and encourage others to join IEC apprenticeship. A big drawing card to this end is the professionalism and appearance of the IEC Central OH Training Center and Labs. Over the past few years, IEC Platinum Partner Home Depot ProXtra Program, has provided funds for expanding classroom space and furnishings. We were assisted in building three additional labs and equipping classrooms; adding tables, chairs, whiteboards and other equipment, along with building materials for labs. Deserving of special thanks is the addition of Smart TV's, funded by Home Depot and added to each classroom, which allowed for extending visuals and other electronic learning to our apprentices and journeyman.

With heartfelt appreciation, IEC Central OH Board of Directors, Members and their employees thank our Platinum Partner Home Depot and the IEC Foundation for their assistance, as we grow. And as we continue to expand, we hope that we can continue to look to the Home Depot and to the IEC Foundation for assistance in our endeavors.

Sincerely,

Barbara A. Tipton
